The IG met at 3:30 p.m. to review the status of the MBFR negotiations and discuss possible approaches to resolving the data impasse.

Following a brief discussion, the IG agreed that although at present the ball was in the East's court, a study of possible new approaches to data would be useful. There was also agreement that the US should inform the UK and FRG of the Soviet data initiative made during ACDA Director Rostow's visit to Vienna in July.

The IG directed the MBFR Working Group to meet on August 11 to begin the data study and to consider a cable instructing Embassies London and Bonn to inform their host governments of the Soviet initiative.
